COVID-19 Indicator Trends - Woodbury County
July 30, 2020 Update

Current Status: For the week ending July 26th, our current data shows that we have 72 newly confirmed cases out of 1,118 tests for a rate of 6 percent positive. This is not included in the chart below because all test results from this week have not been received. In these graphs, the cases and tests are shown during the week the samples were collected, and not the week that the results were reported, which better illustrates the timeframe during which people were sick and seeking care. Duplicate tests for an individual have been removed.

This week the percentage of positive tests did decline by 1 percent and the number of tests completed was maintained. A single percentage may not seem significant, but there is a consistent number of tests being completed. To consider a level of containment of COVID-19, 2 percent or less should be the goal for this indicator.

Percentage of Tests Positive

We continue to see new cases daily, and continued efforts on reducing this spread is necessary. Wearing masks when in public has shown to reduce the spread. Staying home if you or a household member are not feeling well, social distancing, and washing or disinfecting hands regularly are still recommended practices.
